Description

Welcome to the newsletter.

I was elected to Hawkesbury Council on September 10, 2016.

Every newly minted politician begins with high minded intent to do good... to be a deliberative and fair decision maker; to consult their constituency; to be a leader.

But Australians are rightly cynical about politics, and especially about politicians. This is my experiment in civic engagement. My success depends on the quality of discourse I can spur with the broader community.

I have a duty to keep you informed about important matters before Council, and where I stand on them.

This is one way I'm going to do it. Thanks for joining me.
